SUMMER TEACHER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMMES

The Centre for International Training and Education (CITE) at the University of Leicester offers two summer courses for the professional development of experienced teachers, the EAP Teacher Development Programme and the EMI Teacher Development Programme.

EAP TEACHER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

Who is the course for?

This two week course is designed for experienced English teachers who wish to learn more about the special features of English for Academic Purposes (EAP). It is a unique opportunity to grasp the fundamentals of EAP in action in one of the UK's leading EAP teaching centres.

Course objectives

- To raise awareness of theoretical and practical issues underlying EAP course design and methodology
- To introduce a range of practical classroom applications
- To promote self-awareness and self-directed teacher development
- To give insight into the areas of EAP contexts, methodology and students

EMI TEACHER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

Who is the course for?

This two week course is designed for academic staff who are using, or planning to use, English as a Medium of Instruction (EMI) i.e. teaching their academic subject in the English language. The course addresses the issues and challenges of teaching in English, covering methodology, techniques and strategies which can all be personalised to individual EMI contexts.

Course objectives

- To identify the key issues in EMI and understand global and national trends
- To introduce techniques and strategies to enhance students' learning and engagement
- To explore and use effective language for supporting course and assessment documentation
- To study the effective use of language in EMI
- To provide participants with options and ideas to be implemented in their own teaching context

WHY JOIN A SUMMER TEACHER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME?

- Become a more effective teacher by developing teaching skills and increasing understanding of teaching methodology.
- Learn from expert practitioners, informed by the latest research
- Enhance your CV and career prospects
- Share experiences and network with other teaching professionals from around the world
- Access University of Leicester academic resources, such as the library and online journal databases
- Experience life in a vibrant university city in the heart of the UK

This document was published in November 2019. The University of Leicester endeavours to ensure that the content of its prospectus, programme specification, website content and all other materials are complete and accurate. On occasion it may be necessary to make some alterations to particular aspects of a course or module, and where these are minor, for example altering the lecture timetable or location, then we will ensure that you have as much notice as possible of the change to ensure that the disruption to your studies is minimised. However, in exceptional circumstances it may be necessary for the University to cancel or change a programme or part of the specification more substantially. For example, due to the unavailability of key teaching staff, changes or developments in knowledge or teaching methods, the way in which assessment is carried out, or where a course or part of it is over-subscribed to the extent that the quality of teaching would be affected to the detriment of students. In these circumstances, we will contact you as soon as possible and in any event will give you 25 days written notice before the relevant change is due to take place. Where this occurs, we will also and in consultation with you, offer you an alternative course or programme (as appropriate) or the opportunity to cancel your contract with the University and obtain a refund of any advance payments that you have made. Full Terms and Conditions and Senate Regulations governing our teaching programmes can be found here: www.le.ac.uk/offer-terms.
